

Newborough Forest, Sunday 16th

Apologies for the missing controls on the Yellow and Orange courses. My car battery gave up the ghost after it was forced to idle for 10 minutes or so while I tried to get through the gates when the machine rejected my £1 coins. I was forced to abandon the car not far from the gate and hitch a ride to the main car park. Unfortunately, in the rush to bring everything I needed, I forgot to bring my map along with me, and I was forced to remember which controls on the yellow and orange courses I needed to move from their hiding places. I think I will invest in a mobile phone in future like everyone else on the planet. A big thank you to Roger Stein who was the first to turn up and was kind enough to ferry me to my car and bring back all the gear to the main car park.

Congratulations to those who posted some excellent times on the longest ("Green") course. I deliberately set it very technical, and in hindsight, the course was more "Blue" than "Green".
